The French Chamber announces the winners of the Franco-British Business Awards 2015

The Franco-British Business Awards 2015, organised by the French Chamber of Great Britain held under the high patronage of HE Ms Sylvie Bermann, French Ambassador to the UK, and HE Sir Peter Ricketts, British Ambassador to France, were awarded to:

- La Belle Assiette for the SME/Entrepreneur Award
- Decathlon for the Large Corporate Award
- Societe Generale for the Jury's Special Award

These Awards recognise the achievements and innovative spirit of French and British companies, and encourage, with the support of Business France, the further development of cross-Channel trade and investment. France is already the third largest investor in the UK and represents its largest trade surplus.

“Following the recent tragic events in Paris, I believe this year’s Awards hold a special significance in jointly acknowledging the accomplishments of French and British companies of all sizes on both sides of the Channel.

“The Awards reflect our commitment to sharing best practice, cultural exchange and building strong cross-Channel working relationships and may they continue to reflect our flourishing Franco-British businesses for many years to come,” said Estelle Brachlianoff, President of the French Chamber and Senior Executive Vice President of Veolia UK & Ireland.

Held at the Mayfair hotel last night, the 16th edition of the Franco-British Business Awards was sponsored by Eurostar and Mazars with Business France and Colas Rail as supporting sponsors.
